

TABLE OF CONTENTS

List of Abbreviations	xiii
1 Introduction	1
Part I Approximation from Theory
2 The Legal System of Cyprus as a Mixed Legal System	15
2.1 Introduction	15
2.2 The Idea of Legal Classification	16
2.3 Mixed Legal Systems	21
2.3.1 The ‘Classical Mixed Jurisdictions’ and the Similarities with Cyprus	22
2.4 Historical Overview	27
2.4.1 A British Colony	30
2.4.2 Independence	33
2.4.3 Elements of a Potential Solution: Bizonal Bicommunal Federation	36
2.5 The Cyprus Economy	41
2.6 The Legal System	43
2.6.1 Procedural Law	47
2.6.2 The Judiciary	49
2.6.2.1 The Supreme Court as a ‘Supercourt’	50
2.6.3 Contract Law	53
2.6.3.1 The Importance of the English Common Law for the Development of Contract Law in Cyprus	55
2.6.3.2 Legal Doctrine in Cyprus	57
2.6.3.3 Commercial Law Follows the Dominant Economy	57
2.6.3.4 Stare Decisis and Legal Reasoning	60
2.7 Accession to the EU and the Challenges	62
2.7.1 The Decreasing Transposition Deficit	64
2.7.2 The Tension between Common Law and European Law in the Realm of Contract Law	65
2.7.3 The Tension between EU Law and the Common Law in the Realm of Civil Procedure	68

TABLE OF CONTENTS

2.8	Conclusions	70
3	Comparative Law and Economics	73
3.1	Introduction	73
3.2	Convergence as a Movement Towards Efficiency - the Competitive Process	76
3.2.1	Doctrine vs Discretion and Judicial Adaptability	79
3.2.2	The Interpretation of Contracts	80
3.3	Institutional Competition and Private Law	82
3.3.1	The Legal Origins Thesis	83
3.3.2	The Importance of Institutional Infrastructure	86
3.4	Competition between Legal Systems, the LOT and Contract Theory	91
3.4.1	The Relation between Formal Contract Law and Enforcement	94
3.5	LOT and European Law	95
3.6	Procedural Law	99
3.7	The Impact of Brexit on Regulatory and Judicial Competition	101
3.8	Conclusion	103
4	Contract Law in the Aftermath of the Financial Crisis	107
4.1	Introduction	107
4.2	The Important Role of National Courts in the EU Following the Financial Crisis	109
4.3	Cyprus Law	111
4.3.1	Contractual Interpretation under Cyprus Law and English Caselaw	112
4.3.1.1	The Shift toward a More Flexible Approach to Issues of Contractual Interpretation	113
4.3.1.2	The Importance of Textual Interpretation in Cyprus Law and the State of Flux in English Law	115
4.4	Consent and Standard Form Contracts	117
4.5	Security and Stability in Transactions vs Equity and Restorative Contractual Justice	118
4.5.1	Rectification under the Common Law	121
4.6	Good Faith as a General Principle of EU Law	122
4.7	Good Faith under the Common Law	126
4.8	Good Faith under Cyprus Law	130
4.8.1	Article 288 of the Greek Civil Code	132

4.9	The Battle between the Ethic of Self-Interest and Self-Reliance	133
4.9.1	EU law as a Tool for Contract Modification	135
4.9.2	Rebus sic standibus as a Solution to the Subprime Crisis	136
4.10	Conclusions	142
Part II Approximation from Practice
5	The Impact of European Law on Contract Law in Cyprus	147
5.1	Introduction – The Cyprus Crisis	147
5.2	The Legal Framework for Private Debt Restructuring in Cyprus	150
5.2.1	Interpreting the Terms of the Contract – Foreign Currency Loans	155
5.2.1.1	The Approach of Cypriot Courts in Relation to the Risk Associated with Foreign Currency Denominated Loans	156
5.2.1.2	The Approach of Greek Courts in Relation to the Risk Associated with Foreign Currency Denominated Loans	157
5.2.1.3	The Contrast in the Evidentiary Basis Used by the Courts in Cyprus and the Courts in Greece	159
5.3	Public vs Private Banking Laws	164
5.3.1	Banking Law in Cyprus	167
5.3.2	The Intrusion of Financial Regulatory Standards in Traditional Contract Law	169
5.4	Contract Law – The Sui Generis Banker-Customer Relationship and the Emerging Risks	171
5.4.1	The Importance of Credit Risk – Information Obligations as a Mechanism for Shifting the Risk to the Creditor	172
5.5	Liability of Financial Institutions for Mis-Selling Practices	174
5.5.1	Fiduciary Law	175
5.5.1.1	The Approach of Cypriot Courts towards Emerging Duties of Care	177
5.5.1.2	The Recognition of Certain Duties of Care in the English Common Law – The Distinction between Mere Provision of Information and Advice	181
5.5.1.3	The Failure to Recognize Information Duties under Cyprus Law	183
5.5.2	Common Law Duty to Advise or Warn – Actions for Negligent Misstatement	185

TABLE OF CONTENTS

5.5.3	Duty of Care	187
5.5.3.1	Duty of Care under Greek Law	189
5.5.3.2	The Definition of Consumer under European Law – Does the Level of Knowledge of the Customer Play any Role in the Status as a Consumer?	192
5.6	Shifting the Risk from Debtors to Creditors -The Impact of MiFID	195
5.6.1	The Approach of Cypriot Courts	198
5.6.1.1	The Role of the State in Protecting Weaker Parties	201
5.7	Legislative Control of Fairness	204
5.7.1	The Breakdown of Relationship Banking	204
5.7.2	Consumer Protection under Cyprus Law	206
5.7.2.1	The Beginnings of Consumer Protection in Cyprus	207
5.7.2.2	Relaxation of the Burden of Proof	208
5.7.2.3	The Role of General Principles of Private Law in Protecting the Consumer – Consumer Protection still in Its Infancy	210
5.7.2.4	The Protection of Weaker Parties in Continental Systems – Going beyond B2C Transactions	211
5.7.3	Directive on Unfair Terms in Consumer Contracts	213
5.7.3.1	Two Core Requirements for Establishing Unfairness	216
5.7.3.2	Terms Describing the Main Subject Matter of the Contract	219
5.7.4	Directive 93/13 before Cypriot Courts	224
5.7.4.1	The Unfairness of Arbitration Clauses – Cyprus vs European Approaches	227
5.7.4.2	A Shift in the Application of Law 93(I)/96 after the Financial Crisis	231
5.7.5	Unfair Commercial Practices Directive	237
5.7.5.1	The Development of the Law on Commercial Practices by the CJEU	239
5.7.6	Consumer Credit Directive	241
5.7.7	Mortgage Credit Directive	243
5.7.8	The Interplay between Directive 93/13 and the Other Consumer Protection Directives	245
5.8	The Changing Landscape: Public Enforcement of EU Law	246
5.8.1	The Office of the Financial Ombudsman	247

5.8.2	The Director of the Competition and Consumer Protection Service	250
5.9	Proposals and Recommendations to Increase the Effectiveness of the Directives	257
5.10	Conclusions	261
6	Procedural Law as a Tool Towards Changing the Law	267
6.1	Introduction	267
6.2	The Civil Procedure Rules	269
6.3	The Judicial System and Economic Development	272
6.3.1	Enforcing Contracts	275
6.3.2	The Efficiency of Civil Justice Systems	277
6.3.2.1	The Influence of the Comparative Data on Procedural Reforms and the Role of EU Institutions	283
6.4	The Common Law/Civil Law Efficiency Divide	284
6.4.1	The Adversarial vs the Inquisitorial System	285
6.4.1.1	Convergence between the Two Systems	290
6.4.2	The Role of the Judge as a Passive Arbiter of a Dispute	292
6.4.3	Responsibility of Counsels to Bring Cases with Reasonable Prospects of Success (Meritorious Cases)	295
6.5	The Necessity for Reform	297
6.5.1	New Developments	299
6.5.1.1	Case Management	303
6.5.1.2	Training of Judges	308
6.5.1.3	Specialized Courts	309
6.5.1.4	Court Automation	313
6.6	Enforcement and the Impact of EU Law	316
6.6.1	Effective Enforcement as a Principle of EU Law	318
6.6.1.1	The Ex Officio Examination of Unfair Terms	320
6.6.1.2	The Repercussions of the Ex Officio Doctrine on National Systems of Civil Procedure	322
6.6.2	Alternative Dispute Resolution	327
6.6.3	The Importance of Privatization of Adjudication as a Method to Dismantle the Monopoly of the Law	329
6.6.4	Consumer ADR	331
6.6.5	Collective Redress Mechanisms	334
6.6.6	Mechanisms for Consumer Collective Redress in Cyprus	336
6.6.7	The Role of Administrative Authorities Empowered under EU Law	337

TABLE OF CONTENTS

6.6.7.1	The Director of the Consumer Protection Service and the Enforceability of Its Decisions	339
6.7	New Deal for Consumers	342
6.8	Civil Procedure as a Tool for Achieving the Regulatory Goals of Substantive Law	345
6.9	Conclusions	347
7	Conclusions	351
7.1	The Coherence of Private Law and the Autonomous Character of EU Law	352
7.1.1	The Fragmented Plurality of Norms and the Divergent Implementation of EU Law	354
7.2	The Impact of Europeanization on Civil Procedure	356
7.2.1	The Procedural Law Reform	357
7.2.2	The Influence of the LOT	359
7.3	Insights from the Implementation of EU Law in a Mixed Jurisdiction	360
7.3.1	The Reception of European Law in Cyprus	361
7.4	The Impact of EU Law – Conclusions from this Study	362
7.4.1	The Influence of Directive 93/13 on National Contract Law	363
7.4.1.1	The Unwillingness to Rewrite Contracts and the Recent Shift in the Application of Consumer Protection Legislation	364
7.5	Areas of Future Research	366
7.5.1	The Introduction of Individual Remedies	366
7.5.2	The Introduction of Collective Redress Mechanisms	367
7.5.3	The Role of the Financial Ombudsman in Insolvency Proceedings	367
	List of References	369
	List of Cases	427